

AAEOY 2023 Convention - Call for Posters

AAEOY stands for Asian American Engineer of the Year award, an annual recognition event on the national platform to honor the most distinguished professionals with their leadership, technical achievements and remarkable public services. AAEOY 2023 will be hosted by CIEUSA Greater New York Chapter on September 22-23, 2023, at Hyatt Regency, Jersey City, NJ. More information about AAEOY 2023 and past events can be found at <http://2023.aaeoy.org/wordpress/>. For more information about CIE-GNYC, please visit <http://www.cieusa-gnyc.org/>

A technical poster session will be held at the Pre-function area between Liberty and Palisades Boardroom on the 9/23/2023 afternoon. The poster session is specially designed for students at both graduate and undergraduate levels to meet with accomplished convention attendees, to exchange ideas, to share experience and to network with them. There will also be a job fair at the same time with many open positions in major US tech companies. Posters for all subject matters within the broad area of Engineering are welcomed. For students who are interested in this career development opportunity, please email your poster file to poster@aaeoy.org by 9/16/2023. The presenter should prepare the poster board with a standard size of ~3' x 4'.

On the day of the convention (9/23/2023), the major presenter of each poster will receive a certificate of appreciation and a $50 reimbursement for covering the material and transportation expenses. If you have any questions, please email poster@aaeoy.org. Thank you and looking forward to seeing you at AAEOY 2023.
